Rocks On Mars

by Turkey Makes Me Sleepy

Taped Rugs has a long tradition of hosting improvisational experimental jam sessions on July 4th of each year. In 1997, Turkey Makes Me Sleepy took on the traditional date by incorporating an outer space theme into the session, based on that day's landing of the Pathfinder Rover on Mars. Occasional inputs from the live CNN coverage of the Pathfinder landing, random audio excerpts from science fiction story records, readings from Ray Bradbury's Martian Chronicles, and a Dada inspired rendition of David Bowie's Space Oddity lead the jammers into an uncharted area. Contained on this CD is the experience, pretty much as it happened: an unrehearsed excursion into the cosmos. Best of all — it rocks!
